Dear Applicant,

Your trade mark application has been examined early and has been accepted however, in accordance with international agreements that Australia is party to, your trade mark cannot proceed to registration at this time. This is because IP Australia must honour the priority date of applications from convention countries for up to 6 months.

What will happen next

The date that your trade mark will be advertised as accepted will be after 24 August 2022. Once the required time has elapsed, IP Australia will send you an acceptance notice detailing when your trade mark will be advertised as accepted and the two month opposition period will begin.

The earliest a trade mark can proceed to registration is seven and a half (7.5) months after the filing date. Therefore there may be a waiting period between acceptance and registration.

Details of your trade mark can be viewed using our Australian trade mark search on our website.

Yours sincerely,
