ABOUT ME

As a Native New Yorker, I have experienced the hustle and bustle of city life as well as many diverse cultural influences. This dynamic environment has allowed me endless opportunities for both personal and professional growth.

Now settled in Texas, I have an appreciation for the significant change in lifestyle, climate and culture. The transition has presented me with ability to explore, grow and gain a fresh perspective on life. I have been able to blend the fast paced energy of the city with the warmth and charm of the south.
