Royal Essence Collection's Crown Cap

Benigna Parfums brings to light the historical pieces of the Imperial Crown and its spiritual significance. Dating back to the fifteenth century when English monarchs chose a crown design closed by arches to demonstrate that England was not subject to any other earthly power, the idea of the imperial crown was born. The Imperial State Crown was originally made for King George VI in 1937 off a pattern from a crown made in 1838 for Queen Victoria's coronation and later used for the coronation of Edward VII. Taking inspiration from this very crown, Benigna Parfums recreated the imperial state crown for its Royal Essence perfumes Collection. Incorporated into the design are the 'Black Prince's Ruby' and the 'Stuart Sapphire' stones with the prominent British royal elements and symbols.

The $3 million Exclusive Fragrance Crafted for A Charity Cause

The crown-Cap recreated from the British Imperial State crown for $3 million dollars perfume. Benigna Parfums has now recreated the crown in ultimate celebration collection in honor and celebration of HM Queen Elizabeth II on her platinum jubilee celebration.
