MISSION: The mission of the United States Air Force is to fly, fight and win in air, space, and cyberspace. Air Combat Command is the primary force provider of combat airpower to America's warfighting commands. To support the global implementation of national security strategy, ACC operates fighter, reconnaissance, battle-management, and electronic-combat aircraft. It also provides command, control, communications, and intelligence systems, and conducts global information operations.

Beale Air Force Base is tasked to deliver persistent, integrated reconnaissance and combat power for our nation. The reconnaissance gathered by the U-2 Dragon Ladies, along with other reconnaissance aircraft such as the RQ-4 Global Hawk at Grand Forks AFB's 319th RW, feeds into information collected and assessed by intelligence units such as the 548th Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance Group on Beale. Meanwhile, munitions specialists around the Air Force are trained at the 9th Munitions Squadron, Air Force Combat Ammunition Center. The reconnaissance gathered, intelligence assessed, and munitions created are all part of an integrated system designed to ensure the Air Force achieves its mission.
